

Island's "mini-eliminator trawl" project. During the Monkfish Committee report to follow, the Council will receive a briefing on the recent scoping hearings and recommendations from its Monkfish Advisory Panel, each concerning the possible development of a monkfish catch shares program. The committee also will review its discussion about the use of trip limit exemptions in the monkfish cooperative research program. The Northeast Fisheries Science Center staff will summarize its recommendations for 2011–12 observer sea-day allocations. During the afternoon, the Council will discuss and possibly modify an option in the Environmental Impact Statement for Herring Amendment 5 that would require federally-permitted fish dealers to accurately weigh all landings of herring. They also will receive the last of three briefings about ecosystem-based fisheries management by staff of the Northeast Fisheries Science Center. The Habitat Committee will summarize any recommendations from its most recent meeting, and at the end of the day, the Habitat Plan Development Team will provide an overview of the impact of the SASI model peer review on the development of the Council's Habitat Omnibus Amendment.

Thursday, April 28, 2011

The last day of the Council meeting will begin with a presentation about "management area coordination." This will consist of an overview of the relationships between the current groundfish mortality closures and the current and proposed essential fish habitat closures, and their impact on access to fishery resources. The Council will address groundfish management for the remainder of this day. It intends to take final action on Framework Adjustment 46 to the Northeast Multispecies Fishery Management Plan (FMP), which would cap the amount of haddock the herring fleet would be allowed to take as bycatch in that fishery. The Council also may take final action on Amendment 17 to the Multispecies FMP. Amendment 17 would create a mechanism for the operation of NOAA-funded, state-operated permit banks. Other groundfish-related business items include a report on workshop planning for the purpose of examining the last year of sector operations, and a Groundfish Committee recommendation to delay further work on an amendment to consider accumulation limits in the fishery. Any other outstanding business will be discussed after the groundfish agenda items have been completed.

Although other non-emergency issues not contained in this agenda may come before this Council for discussion, those issues may not be the subjects of formal action during this meeting. Council action will be restricted to those issues specifically listed in this notice and any issues arising after publication of this notice that require emergency action under section 305(c) of the Magnuson-Stevens Act, provided that the public has been notified of the Council's intent to take final action to address the emergency.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Comments Online

The CFTC is obligated to collect comments on rulemakings and other regulatory action, which it timely publishes on its Web site to provide transparency in the informal rulemaking process under the Administrative Procedure Act ("APA"), 5 U.S.C. 553, and in the regulatory processes established in the Commodity Exchange

Act, 7 U.S.C. 1 et seq. The CFTC also may solicit comments or other input from the public that may not be associated with statutory or regulatory notice and comment requirements. Previously, this input was received by the Commission's Office of the Secretary and incorporated into the Commission Correspondence Files, Privacy Act System of Record Notice CFTC-2.

The new "Comments Online" system will collect and store comments and input received by the Commission. Specifically, the system includes a web form on <http://www.cftc.gov> allowing individuals to submit their comments or input, along with their name, organization and contact information. Once submitted, the system stores this information in the Comments Online database. Any comments received by fax, postal mail or email are uploaded by personnel into this database, collecting all comments into one database. The commenter's name, organization and comment or input are automatically published to <http://www.cftc.gov>. The commenter's contact information, or other personal information voluntarily submitted, is not published on the Internet, unless the commenter has incorporated such information into the text of his or her comment.

During an informal rulemaking or other statutory or regulatory notice and comment process, Commission personnel may manually remove a comment from publication if the commenter withdraws his or her comments before the comment period has closed or because the comment contains obscenities or other material deemed inappropriate for publication by the Commission.¹ However, comments that are removed from publication will be retained by the Commission for consideration as required by the APA, or as part of the Commission's documentation of a comment withdrawal in the event that one is requested.

II. The Privacy Act

Under the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a, a "system of records" is defined as any group of records under

Each government agency is required to publish a notice in the Federal Register of a system of records in which the agency identifies and describes each system of records it maintains, the reasons why the agency uses the personally identifying information therein, the routine uses for which the agency will disclose such information outside the agency, and how individuals may exercise their rights under the Privacy Act to determine if the system contains information about them.
