(a) It has been determined by the Administrator of the Panama Canal Commission that the acquisition of supplies and services obtainable in the Republic of Panama is required under the conditions contemplated by Article IX.

(b) For the purposes of this determination, the following words and terms, as used in Article IX and this part 3570, shall have the meanings stated below:

Comparable in quality and price means the supplies or services (1) must conform to the purchase description, specifications, or statement of work that sets forth the Commission's requirements; and (2) can be acquired at a price equal to or lower than the price for similarly conforming supplies or services obtainable from sources outside the Republic of Panama.

Goods means manufactured or unmanufactured articles, materials and supplies.

Obtainable in the Republic of Panama means the supplies or services can be obtained from sources in the Republic of Panama.

Panamanian origin means goods that are grown, mined, or produced in the Republic of Panama; or in the case of goods which consist in whole or in part of materials from another country, have been substantially transformed by processes performed in the Republic of Panama into new and different articles of commerce with a name, character, or use distinct from that of the article or articles from which they were so transformed.

Supplies, pursuant to the definition in FAR 2.101, means "all property except land or interest in land." Accordingly, the term includes construction.

The cost of insurance shall be calculated at one percent (1%) of the value of the supplies, or any supplies incidental to services, in the event the contract does not require insurance.
