

§ 1720.410

the propriety of and issue any of the following orders:

(1) That the deposition shall not be taken.

(2) That it may be taken only at some designated place other than that stated in the order.

(3) That it may be taken only on written interrogatories.

(4) That certain matters shall not be inquired into.

(5) That the examination shall be held with no one present except the parties to the action, their counsel and a person qualified in the designated place to administer oaths and affirmations.

(e) The administrative law judge may make any other order which justice requires to protect the party or deponent from annoyance, embarrassment or oppression, or to prevent the unnecessary disclosure or publication of information contrary to the public interest and beyond the requirements of justice in the particular proceeding.

(f) Each deponent shall be duly sworn, and any adverse party shall have the right to cross-examine. Objections to questions or documents shall be in short form, stating the grounds of objections relied upon. The questions and the answers, together with all objections made, but excluding argument or debate, shall be reduced to writing and certified by the person before whom the deposition was taken. Thereafter such person shall forward the deposition and one copy thereof to the party at whose instance the deposition was taken, and shall forward one copy thereof to the representative of each party who was present or represented at the taking of the deposition.

(g) A deposition taken to preserve relevant evidence which any party intends to offer in evidence may be corrected in the manner provided by §1720.515. Any such deposition shall, in addition to the other required procedures, be read to or by the deponent and be subscribed by the deponent if the party intending to offer it in evidence so notifies the person before whom the deposition was taken. Subject to appropriate rulings on such objections to the questions and answers as were noted at the time the deposition was taken or as may be valid when it is offered, a deposition taken to preserve relevant evidence, or any part thereof, may be used or offered in evidence as against any party who was present or represented at the taking of the deposition or who had due notice thereof if the administrative law judge finds any of the following:

(1) That the deponent is dead.

(2) That the deponent is out of the United States or is located at such a distance that attendance would be impractical, unless it appears that the absence of the deponent was procured by the party offering the deposition.

(3) That the deponent is unable to attend or testify because of age, sickness, infirmity or imprisonment.

(4) That the party offering the deposition has been unable to procure the attendance of the deponent by subpoena.

(5) That such exceptional circumstances exist as to make it desirable, in the interest of justice and with due regard to the importance of presenting the testimony of witnesses orally in open hearing, to allow the deposition to be used.

§ 1720.410 Subpoenas ad testificandum.

Application for issuance of a subpoena requiring a person to appear and depose or testify at the taking of a deposition or at an adjudicative hearing shall be made to the administrative law judge who may issue such subpoena.

§ 1720.415 Subpoenas duces tecum.

(a) Application for issuance of a subpoena requiring a person to appear and depose or testify and to produce specific documents, papers, books, or other physical exhibits at the taking of a deposition, or at a prehearing conference, or at an adjudicative hearing shall be made in writing to the administrative law judge who may issue such subpoena and shall specify as exactly as possible the general relevancy of the material and the reasonableness of the scope of the subpoena.

(b) Subpoenas duces tecum may be used by any party for purposes of discovery or for obtaining documents, papers, books, or other physical exhibits
